

WORK WHEEL

Use this Work Wheel to identify projects you are working on at this time in your life (this week, this month, this quarter).

In the center you may write “Relationship with Jesus,” or “Communion in God,” or the word or phrase that expresses your intimate and life-giving relationship with the divine at the core of your being. Do not name a quality of that relationship (such as peace, joy, or love) but name the relationship itself.

Notice how each project flows (or doesn’t flow!) from that relationship at the center. And identify the ways in which that relationship at the center reaches all the way through each project and out to those whose lives you touch. Identify specific ways you would like to improve this flow of relationship from the center outward to the world.

You may use this wheel to do your weekly or monthly or quarterly planning. A larger model of the wheel appears on the next page.
